55th
National Exhibition

Canterbury Museum
CHRISTCHURCH

May 15 - 25 2014

Guest exhibitor:
Stephen Robertson, Nelson

Welcome to the 55th National Exhibition of NZ Potters and congratulations to our organisers, the members of Cantaclay, the Canterbury/Westland members of our society. It is good to be back at last. This is Cantaclay's third attempt to mount a national pottery exhibition in Christchurch since the National was last held here in 2008. Twice earthquake damage foiled them, but this year, fingers crossed, earthquakes will hold off at least until the exhibition finishes.

While earthquakes are bad news to collectors of pottery there is a positive side for the makers of pottery who live far enough away and this exhibition is a great opportunity to replenish stocks..

We are all indebted to the many who have made the exhibition possible – those who sponsored the awards, the society's corporate members, Creative New Zealand's Creative Communities, our selectors and designers and all the members who donated their time. Especially we are indebted to convenor Shona Clarkson who has worked for months, begging, pleading, cajoling, arranging, organising and making this exhibition happen.

And of course, I thank all those who submitted work for this exhibition and enabled us present, to all who visit, a glimpse of our exciting world.

Jim Pollard
President, NZ Potters (Inc.)

Stephen Robertson

Stephen is a potter in Nelson with over 20 years of handling clay. He started his journey at Otago Polytechnic, receiving a Diploma in Ceramic Art. He gained valuable experience while working at McGlashen Pottery from making the pottery through to selling the works. Since 2003 Stephen has been a full time self employed potter. Stephen produces a wide range of bowls and other forms. A variety of craze pattern glazes with a depth of colour has been achieved through his glazing technique. These distinctive glazes have become a signature of Stephens work. On display are works produced in March and April 2014.
